Also such other schools as the division commander may deem necessary.4. In the training work at least 36 hours per week, exclusive of officers and non-commissioned officers schools, will be required. To be successful the interest of the men must be maintained. This can be done by giving variety to the work. Do not keep men too long at one thing; change to something else before they become bored. Long periods of place rest should not be permitted. Short periods of physical drill of various kinds should be interspersed, especially what is called recreational games. At drills all officers should be present in so far as necessary to secure proper supervision. Superior officers should supervise the work of subordinates. Every mistake must be corrected and the men kept to their work. While this war has called into use new weapons and new methods it has not obviated the use and necessity of the old. Most of these new things can be quickly taught to soldiers otherwise trained. A few days are all that are required for most...
